2019 ANNUAL REPORT

BRIDGE HOUSE
LET'S GET IT DONE

OUR MISSION IS TO BE
UNSTOPPABLE. IN THE
FACE OF HOMELESSNESS, AND IN THE FACE OF DOUBT, WE KEEP MOVING.

There's nothing in the world that can stop us from creating opportunities to help people get a foothold, to overcome their challenges, and to go beyond all expectation.

There's nothing in the world that can stop us from thinking of new creative, awesome solutions to change their future and the future of the community.

There's nothing in the world that can make us think this is something too complicated to solve.

There's nothing in the world that can stop us from getting our job done. Every day, for every person, because it's the right thing to do.

And we'll get even more done.
Especially when you help us do it.

DEAR SUPPORTER,

In 2019 homelessness made headlines. Cities across the country are struggling to keep pace with needs for housing and supportive services. In our own region, during the Point in Time count in January 2019 more than 5,755 were experiencing homelessness.

But there is hope. There is progress. I am more optimistic than ever.

At Ready to Work Graduation in October 2019, I glimpsed the future. The future of what is possible. Through the accomplishments of our Ready to Work Graduates, I saw an answer - our answer - that can be broadly applied to end homelessness in our Country.

I saw the faces of David, Leah, Sean, Earl and so many more. I saw them beaming with pride - thrilled to have achieved their goal for the first time in a while - maybe ever. I saw families cheering and a community of support rallying around each other. I saw transformation.

Just a year before joining Ready to Work some of these incredible humans had been tight in the grips of addiction, some were cycling in and out of jail and rehab, some were experiencing homelessness due to domestic abuse. All had come to Ready to Work experiencing homelessness and seeking an opportunity. A year before they found our programs they had not been working, many had been estranged from their families, few had hope. Now, on that Ready to Work stage, they are fathers, mothers, colleagues, friends, sober, employed, housed and contributing members of our community.

This is thanks to you. Your support of our programming spanning from the basic needs we offer at Path to Home and Severe Weather Shelter to the structured jobs and housing offered through Ready to Work and Community Table Kitchen makes our impact possible. It is because of you that we are able to create the services and opportunities that save and transform lives.

In this report you will find a tremendous statement of impact. We are proud to share facts, figures, and financials to articulate our impact.

In 2019:

- We supported 1,638 adults experiencing homelessness with navigation plans to find housing and support through our Path to Home program.
- We graduated 3 out of 4 of our Ready to Work trainees into fulltime jobs and independent housing by breaking cycles of homelessness and representing a return on investment to the community of $2.4 million.
- We prepared 188,225 meals for people experiencing hunger while providing 11,306 hours of paid job training to our program participants at Community Table Kitchen.

But there is something that is harder to see, something that numbers cannot properly capture. In 2019, our programs provided love, care and humor. We were there for our clients in ways other programs and services are not. Through our unique program approach - we created trust through employment, we created strength through camaraderie, we created hope through integration and we created dignity through setting expectations. In 2019 we fulfilled our mission with gusto and in 2020 we have more good things to come. Our culture, our commitment remains unflappable. As homelessness continues to make headlines, we know we have work to do and ideas to share.

In 2020:

- We will leverage the support from the Google Impact Challenge Grant to scale the reach and impact of our Ready to Work model.
- We will continue to address hunger through our Community Table Kitchen social enterprise through expanding partnerships to reach more people at risk while simultaneously expanding job training and earned revenue efforts.
- We will build on our current innovative housing models and will pursue more creative solutions to create non-traditional and workforce housing.
- We will continue to challenge the status quo by optimizing the use of our resources, executing with excellence, and staying authentic to who we are - we are unstoppable in the face of homelessness.

Now, more than ever, as our nation and world adjusts to the challenge of the new stresses of managing the Coronavirus pandemic and long-term implications of the economic turmoil it has caused, our programs, model and innovative spirit will be more necessary, more relevant than ever.

Thank you for your ongoing partnership.

Let's get it done.

Isabel McDevitt,
Chief Executive Officer

THE CASCADE: LET'S MEET CHRISTINA

How many problems and setbacks can a normal person take before they crack?...and once they've spiraled all the way to the bottom of the dark pit, how do they find their way back to the light?

Her life started out normal enough. She never knew her biological father, but she grew up with her mother and sister in the Chicago suburbs. When she was twelve they moved to Colorado and she graduated from Overland High School, part of the Cherry Creek School District. After graduating with a degree in cosmetology, Christina worked as a hair stylist for several years in Colorado and Illinois, eventually following the rest of her family to California. In California, she got married, had a daughter and worked at a Red Lobster restaurant, rising to manager.

"Christina has come a long way from living out of her car".

Then the problems started. She got divorced, had another daughter, her stepfather, who was very dear to her died, and she began drinking heavily.

In addition, her boyfriend was diagnosed with kidney failure and had to go on dialysis. In 2017 her boyfriend died and her drug and alcohol use consumed her. During this period she saw five friends die, including her landlord. Her building was sold and she had to move out. She became even more depressed when this happened because she had lived there with her boyfriend for ten years and the finality of living without him hit her hard. She moved in with her mother, who was terminally ill. When her mother was evicted and ended up in a nursing home, Christina had to live in her car. As if that weren't enough, her fifteen-year old daughter, who was living with her father, ran away from home and Christina went looking for her and wrecked her car - which was the only safe home she had.

Now Christina was truly homeless and living on the street. She was arrested several times for public drunkenness until a kind police officer saw something in her that made him want to help her. He put Christina in a hotel and contacted her sister in Colorado. Her sister came to California and brought Christina back to Colorado to live with her. Unfortunately, her sister was using drugs herself and the two had several violent fights and Christina ended up in jail.

That was when Christina hit bottom. She realized she had to change...but how?

On the street, right outside of the jail, Christina asked a man if she could use his phone to make a call. He told her he was in a program called Ready to Work. She asked him to take her there and he did. That very day happened to be her birthday and talking to the staff at Ready to Work was like the best birthday present she ever received!

"At Ready to Work Christina found a safe place to live and a comfortable wonderful atmosphere".

At Ready to Work Christina found a safe place to live and a "comfortable wonderful atmosphere". She participated in support services, including addiction treatment which helped her achieve and maintain sobriety for the first time in years. Christina exclaims, "I feel awake and alive after all these years!" She started working at the Community Table Kitchen. She says Chef John is nice and she loves being part of his team. "This has changed my life!" Christina says, "I wish there were Ready to Work houses everywhere because there are so many people in need of these programs."

The COVID-19 epidemic has delayed Christina's plans but has not discouraged her. She had been prepared to graduate from the program and move into a job at the Community Table Kitchen Café Bridge House opened on the Boulder

Community Health campus. The opening of the café has been delayed, so Christina's plans, like so many others, are on hold for now. Ultimately, she wants to go back to school and to train to be a Certified Nurse Assistant. Christina has come a long way from living out of her car and none of it would have been possible without the hand up provided by Bridge House and Ready to Work!

AT BRIDGE HOUSE WE OFFER AN ECOSYSTEM OF PROGRAMS

WE KNOW HOMELESSNESS is not too complicated to solve. Nothing can stop us from thinking of new creative and awesome solutions to change the future of those we help and to improve the future of our community. Our solutions are designed to buck the status quo and to get remarkable results.

2019 READY TO WORK GRADUATE STATISTICS

Achieved 90% of 2019 Graduates still employed and housed

Offered $14.79 average starting wage

READY TO WORK COMMUNITY IMPACT STATEMENT:

Ready to Work offers a great return on investment. Bridge House’s programs are impactful and cost effective solutions to homelessness in the community. The annual cost for an adult experiencing homelessness on average is $45,000 and can exceed $150,000 annually through utilization of hospitals, jails, detox and emergency services. The cost of an individual in prison is estimated at over $40,000 per year. However, the total one-time cost for each Ready To Work trainee is approximately $30,000, 50% of which goes directly to the trainee in wages. After graduating, participants are self-sufficient and are no longer a strain on community resources. For each client prevented from returning to homelessness, Bridge House saves the community approximately $45,000 per year. We also estimate that each Ready to Work Graduate offers the economy a net gain per year of $29,580 to the community through rent, taxes and other economic impacts as a contributing member of society.

The impact of COVID-19 is causing unemployment predictions of upwards of 20%, we are sure we will see an increase in need for our model. Our goal of scaling and expanding our unique Ready to Work model into other communities becomes even more important now more than ever.

2019 AWARDS

Our Community Table Kitchen Social Enterprise won the Pledge 1% Pitch Contest during Boulder Start-up Week to develop new lines of business to expand job training and earned revenue opportunities.

Our Bridge House and Ready to Work Leadership Team won the Bill Daniels’ Award for Ethical Leadership from the Daniels Fund.

Ready to Work was first runner up in the Impact 100 Metro Denver to launch our new Ready to Live Graduate Support Network to ensure the stability and success of our Ready to Work Graduates.

Our Ready to Work program won the Google Impact Challenge! The funds allow us to provide a scaling plan and roadmap for other Colorado communities to develop “work-first” programs to address homelessness.

“Ready to Work is a great place to be offered the opportunity to propel your life to something great. This place offers the individual a safe environment, the accountability and the structure for them to work on all the things they need to: getting sober, getting a job, learning to save, all of those kinds of things.” - CORY

THIS MARINE SHARES HIS STORY WITH A SINCERE AND GRATEFUL HEART

ALPHONSO JEROME DALTON is a recent graduate of Ready to Work Aurora. Alphonso was raised in a loving, Catholic family where faith was, and continues to be, a big part of his life. Al was the oldest of four children and he lived at home until he joined the United States Marine Corps at the age of nineteen. Alphonso grew up with great parents, lots of friends and girlfriends. Being musically inclined, he grew up playing many instruments, singing in several choirs, he loved history, politics, Dungeons and Dragons, and was a tough opponent in a debate.

Shortly after high school Al was in a devastating car accident that killed his cousin and injured his friends. After the accident, due to the trauma, he attempted to go to junior college but he started drinking and getting in trouble daily. Finally, in November, he entered the house of two very angry parents. That's when he told them... he had joined the Marines.

Alphonso loved being a United States Marine. Twenty months into his first tour of duty, he found himself on the front lines of the Persian Gulf War. After 229 days and liberating the country of Kuwait, he returned to the States a completely broken person, to himself and everyone who ever knew him.

Al left active duty in December of 1992 and started the process of, in his words, wrecking his entire life and the lives of so many others. It was not until September 2013, after a horrendous, flashback episode, he ended up as a patient in the Mental Health Ward at Jefferson Barracks V.A. Medical Center St. Louis. He shares that he was afforded a moment of clarity, while on a visit with an angelic, social worker, named Ms. Olivia. This is where he learned he suffered from Post Traumatic Stress Disorder – PTSD.

Alphonso didn't take the news well and continued to ignore his feelings. After two failed suicide attempts, something changed. He had a longing to be Al again, to really live again, be happy and have joy again. In June of 2018, he decided to participate in the 9 week Intensive Inpatient PTSD Program, at the Denver VA

Medical center. Upon successfully completing the program, he continued his therapy in Denver, and reconnected with his family and friends.

Realizing, after 5 years of continuous therapy, that he needed to continue living in a supportive, structured living arrangement, he happened upon a young man in a green shirt, while waiting on a bus. Al was living in a per diem transitional program at the time. He told Al about a one-of-a-kind supportive living, work program that was called Ready to Work. Having reconnected with his spiritual creator, he just knew in his heart, this was an answer to prayer.

Alphonso made an appointment to meet Ms. Judy Lopez, who sounded so enthusiastic about him inquiring about RTW. In their interview he shared with her his journey to her desk. They agreed that he was a great candidate for the program, and he agreed to give RTW the Marine Corps try, and he did.

Al struggled with continuing to deal with things from his past, but he never gave up on the mission to do his best. Assigned a faithful case manager, Ashley, and a host of sincere, genuine souls, they set about the business of getting Al to where he wanted and needed to be: back to a real life, his life. He proved himself in his work duties and was quickly recognized and promoted to lead his own work crew: he became a trusted and encouraging confidant to many trainees in the program. Because of RTW he adopted and continues to hold fast to a holistic way of living; and is looking forward to giving back to those who helped him, and to help those who need help.

Because Ready to work allowed him the opportunity to participate, in the program; he was able to secure employment with The City of Aurora, as a full time Maintenance Worker, in the Parks, Recreation, and Open Spaces Department; he is now enjoying the relationships he has with three wonderful daughters and his grandchild.

Today, Al shares a home with his dearest Cousin Dion, who wants him to stay with her while he continues to work on himself. Alphonso is in the process of buying his first vehicle in over four years and looks forward to buying his first home. His family is overjoyed to have him back, their awesome brother, nephew, cousin, and friend they all know and love. Although he is enjoying and celebrating all of his successes, as well as learning from his challenges and failures, nothing compares to the love and pride he sees in the eyes of his mother.

While things may appear grim now, in the days of Covid-19, nothing can stop or dampen his spirit of accomplishment and determination. Al thanks

Isabel for her vision, Brian for his dedication, the staff and support groups, for their unyielding care and concern, but most importantly, he thanks all of the supporters, without whom, Bridge House and Ready to Work Aurora, would not exist and he is thankful for your help.

Alphonso signed off...

With a Sincere and Grateful Heart,

Alphonso Jerome Dalton
U.S.M.C. Veteran

NEED A GIFT?

Danconias truffle brownies, a division of Community Table Kitchen, are the perfect corporate or personal gift to show someone you care. Send a special, delicious treat by visiting www.danconias.com to order.

OUR IMPACT WAS REAL IN 2019, we transformed lives and improved our community, now in 2020 in the midst of unprecedented challenges we are here for the community more than ever!

WHAT IS THE #HELPTHEHELPERS FUND?

Bridge House needs funds now to expand our services and fill the deficit caused by the slowing of our earned revenue during these uncertain times of COVID-19.

- PLATINUM - $20,000 = 1 month's lost revenue from our Community Table Kitchen Catering Business that would have supported wages for Ready to Work trainees and graduates
- GOLD - $10,000 = 1 month additional hazard pay bonuses for front line employees
- SILVER - $5,000 = COVID-19 supplies such as masks, hand sanitizer and professional fumigating to sanitize our properties
- BRONZE - $2,500 = 1 month mental health support for frontline staff and clients
- PARTNER - $1,000 = 80 meals prepared by Community Table Kitchen and distributed to low income families through food bank partners
- FRIEND - $500 = Flexible funds for graduates who lost their job and can't pay rent
